School board eyes junior high

State commission says no to south end school

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The State Educational Finance Commission has determined construction of a south Hancock County high school is not feasible.

After hearing the EFC's report at a regular Tuesday night board meeting, County School District President Woodrow Ladner directed Superintendent of Education Billy D. Sills to seek an EFC opinion regarding a south Hancock County junior high school.

"I received word that the long range plan we submitted to EFC for a proposed south Hancock County school was not approved," the superintendent reported.

Sills told the board EFC Executive Secretary Dr. Frank Lovell cited: —The projected student enrollment data indicates the district will not grow enough to merit construction of a proposed high school in the county; —The south part of the county does not have enough students to justify a high school;

—If the board is determined to build a high school in the south part of the county it will have to offer a bond issue; —If the board goes with a bond issue EFC has to approve the site for the school;

—Two high schools in the county are too expensive to operate. Money from the state is allotted based on average daily attendance.

Following the report a tense silence filled the meeting room where an overflow crowd of some 35 school

At Bay City Council

Arbitrary personnel policies criticized

By ELLIS CUEVAS

Calvin Smith, a Bay St. Louis resident, appeared before the Bay Council Tuesday night inquiring about policies on hiring and firing of city employees.

Smith questioned the Council about the policies, but he was informed responsibility of hiring and firing rests with the mayor with the exception of the city clerk and his assistant.

Board Attorney Joseph Gex noted department heads are approved by the council after recommendation by the mayor.

Gex told Smith those responsibilities could only be shifted to the council through a change in the city's form of government.

Smith read a lengthy letter and after some discussion it was accepted into council minutes.

When Bennett was asked if he would accept the letter, he said, "I would have been happy to have accepted it, if it had been presented to me."

Bennett said there were currently no written procedures for hiring, disciplining, or dismissal of city personnel.

Following is the text of Smith's letter:

September 2, 1980
City Council of Bay St. Louis, Ms.
City Hall
Bay St. Louis, MS. 39520
Gentlemen:

It has been brought to my attention that the City of Bay St. Louis has no formal personnel procedure system to govern the hiring, disciplining, or dismissal policies for the protection of its city employees.

The present hiring system or lack thereof appears to be predicated on the moods of certain city officials and not based upon merit as it should be. When an individual is hired on the basis of mood instead of merit, the system will eventually lose sight of its mission and objectivity. It appears as though the employee is obligated to the employer, but has no job protection under the system because there appears to be no system.

A working system must include but is not limited to the following guidelines and procedures:

1. Performance Appraisals
2. Training
3. Performance and conduct
4. Incentive Awards Procedures
5. Time and Attendance Procedures; and
6. Appeals and Grievance Procedures

As referenced in the previous example, an employee may be reduced in grade or removed for unacceptable performance, i.e., when an employee is not performing acceptably in one or more critical elements of the job. The Employee, however, must be given the opportunity to demonstrate acceptable performance before an action is proposed. This action must include a reasonable time commensurate with the duties of the employees job. If and when the employee fails to show acceptable performance, an action may be proposed.

An example of this would be the recent dismissal of a city employee from the Street Maintenance Department, the Police Department, and another city work crew. The first employee mentioned was told that he was doing an excellent job, but city officials had received verbal complaints from citizens of Bay St. Louis. These alleged complaints ranged from sleeping on the job to drinking on the job. None of this was documented however, but the employee was released without being apprised of his rights, or given the opportunity to appeal the dismissal.

It is imperative that the system must, in addition to getting the job done, protect the employment rights of its public servants. In the referenced case, those rights were not afforded the terminated employee.

The fact is that no city employee is provided protection under the system as it now exists.

City employees, if charged with employment improprieties are arbitrarily dismissed by the ranking city official without due process.

Documentation of employee infractions, if they exist, are kept in a helter-skelter fashion.

City employees have no appeal rights on disciplinary action requests filed by a supervisor.

The supervisors appear not to Four incumbents fail to qualify

Beat One post open to three

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Hancock County School District Beat One-board member Oris Ladner will not seek another term.

County Circuit Clerk Henry Otis said late Friday afternoon Ladner had not registered for the November 4 presidential election by the 5 p.m. deadline that day.

The school board member was unavailable for comment Friday and Saturday.

However, Democrats George E. Ladner, Gerald (Jerry) Ladner and Richard (Pat) Patterson did qualify for the District One school board post.

The only other county school post which will be voted on this year will be Beat Two.

Democratic incumbent Monvel Cuevas was the only candidate qualifying for the Beat Two school board slot.

Otis said according to the State Attorney General both school posts will be offered in a countywide vote this fall.

"There will be no runoff in the school board elections. The man with the most votes will win the post," the circuit clerk reported.

Crane Creek resident balks at school tax

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A local resident appeared at a Tuesday meeting of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors objecting to a two mill tax increase for the combined handicapped and classroom facility at Hancock North Central Elementary.

However, later in the meeting supervisors voted to issue $250,000 in negotiable notes for the HNC facility.

Paul D. Smith of the Crane Creek Community stated, "I'm not against the handicapped center, I think we need it. But since the County School Board has nearly $1 million in savings, why should we be taxed any more?"

Smith said several citizens in the north part of the county objected to the tax and would prefer a countywide vote before any increase.

Board Attorney Walter Gex left the room to obtain laws regarding such a millage allocation.

When Gex returned he informed Smith unless a petition is received from at least 25 percent of the county's qualified voters, no election on millage levy is necessary.

The board attorney said the deadline to receive such a petition was 5 p.m. that day, 15 days after the last advertisement notice was published.

Smith replied, "I thought we had 60 days."

"We just began circulating a petition and we think the people of the county should have an opportunity to express their opinion," Smith reported.

Gex stated, "Whether the school board acts on this or not, I'd suggest you talk to the school board."

Smith retorted, "The people don't understand what these two mills are for."

Gex said, "You might get some relief from the school board if you approach them. If not you have the court system to appeal your case."

The Crane Creek man reported, maintain records and documentation that would substantiate disciplinary or unacceptable performance charges.

For the protection of the city, city managers and its employees, there is a need for implementation of a personnel procedures system.

To directly address the situation as it now stands, city employees are denied the following employment rights:

1. The employee must be apprised in writing of the charges against him/her.
2. Employee must be given the rights to respond in writing to those charges.
3. Employee must be apprised of his/her rights under the system.
4. Employee must be apprised of his/her rights to representation or counsel.
5. Copies of all documentation in a case must be made available to the aggrieved party.

When an employee is cited for misconduct, abuse of leave, tardiness or any other actions that do not comply with city procedures, appropriate action should be taken, however, these actions cannot be arbitrary. The city supervisors should attempt to find discipline that will be most likely to solve the problem and to assure that the employee is not penalized out of proportion to the offense. Employees must be given fair and equitable treatment in all aspects of personnel management, and employees should be protected against arbitrary action.

Disciplinary or corrective action should only be taken to further city productivity, to correct an employee's behavior or performance problem. They should never be taken on the basis of personal animosity or other reasons that are prohibited.

In my opinion, as a citizen of Bay St. Louis, it would be incumbent upon the city council to initiate some action that will provide protection for the city workforce against arbitrary actions engaged in by city officials.

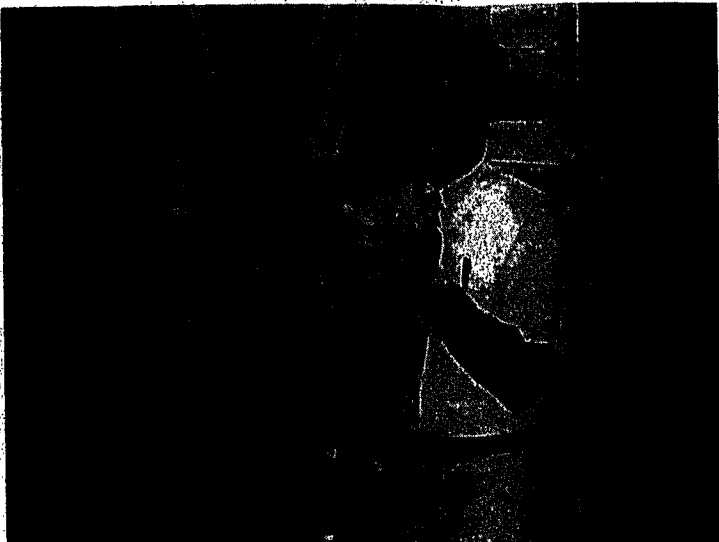

Should the city have a personnel procedure outline, I would like to review it in its entirety to determine:

- a) the extent of employee protection
- b) the role of the council in regards to employee protection
- c) orientation procedures utilized by the city to apprise new employees of their rights
- d) a copy of the application form the new employee must complete
- e) a copy of the employee training schedule, outlining job training and requirements
- f) a copy of the rules and regulations governing disciplinary actions, adverse actions, hiring and dismissal procedures
- g) a copy of the alcohol-drug abuse regulations for city employees
- h) a copy of the Merit Promotion Plan; and
- i) a copy of the city's organizational structure.

I ask that the council provide me this information within a reasonable amount of time and apprise me of the progress being made through council channels.

I appreciate your concern and interest in this matter. If you must contact me by telephone during working hours please call 604-486-6213.

Respectfully,

patrons jammed the Dan Russell Sr. Youth Court Center court room in Bay St. Louis.

Sills broke the quiet and suggested, "Do you want me to make a recommendation or would the board like to suggest something? Would you want me to check into the possibility for a junior high school?"

Ladner agreed with Sills and said, "See what kind of information we can get for a junior high school."

Board member Louie Ladner also suggested to Sills, "Would you see what kind of funds we're getting from the assessed valuation."

School patron Faye Lusich of Lakeshore requested, "I would like to ask Sills how many students are attending Hancock North Central High School?"

Sills replied, "Our average daily attendance is a little over 300."

Lusich said, "He's telling me we don't have enough students. I thought we only needed 200 for a new high school?"

After the board returned from a five-minute recess behind closed doors in Sills' office, Woodrow Ladner informed the audience, "A member of the board wanted to check the legality of a school matter."

Regarding parents picketing Gulfview Elementary School, School patron Dan Humby of the Fenton Community suggested, "It seems the school board has a public relations problem. If school board members could attend each district school in a public forum, patrons could present their grievances at such a meeting."

Woodrow Ladner said, "I think that is an excellent idea."

Humby then asked, "I would now appreciate knowing what days and what times the board will have these forums."

Woodrow Ladner replied, "All board members are working people and we would have to arrange these meetings to accommodate everyone's schedules." The board then recessed until 9 a.m. Sept. 13.

In other business, at the 6 p.m. meeting, the board:

—Approved paying expenses for the Superintendent and the board to attend a school law seminar and a Mississippi School Board Association annual workshop Sept. 23-25. Woodrow Ladner said the location of the meeting was not known.

—Approved paying expenses for Assistant Superintendent James Pair and Federal Coordinator Harlin Hill to attend a Sept. 28 superintendent's meeting in Jackson titled State Basic Skills-Right to Read;

—Approved paying expenses for Pair and Hill to attend a Sept. 25 testing conference in Gulfport sponsored by the McGraw-Hill Co.;

—Approved paying expenses for Pair to attend an Oct. 7 recruitment day at Mississippi State University and all other state universities;

—Approved employing Verna Walker as seventh grade English teacher at HNC for the 1980-81 school year;

—Approved employing David Rutledge as ninth grade English teacher at HNC for the 1980-81 school year;

—Accepted the resignation of Glynda Chaisson as part-time cafeteria worker at HNC;

—Authorized bid advertisement for a new engine for a district pickup truck including an alternate bid for a rebuilt engine;

—Heard a report from Sills that invitations for bids to move five portable classrooms from Jackson County to HNC were mailed and bids will be opened Sept. 20;

—Heard a report from Sills that Weaver and Sons, Inc. of Gulfport estimated it would cost $595 to install sewerage treatment plant pumps at Charles B. Murphy Elementary School in Pearlman;

—Heard a report from Sills that companies which previously repaired gasoline pumps at Gulfview no longer provide such service;

—Heard a report from board member Monvel Cuevas that the contractor which installed a HNC sewer line in the middle of the school grounds' complete covering the line with fill and "dress up the job";

—Heard a report from Cuevas that additional portable classrooms obtained from Jackson County School District would be placed at Gulfview; —Heard a report from Woodrow Ladner that heaters for the Clemons Harbor School are on order and will be installed soon.

will also be elected in the presidential voting with three of five incumbents not seeking re-election.

Democratic Commissioners Roland Ladner of Beat Three, E.E. (Pete) Moran of Beat Four and Jake Morreale of Beat Five did not qualify for re-election.

Roland Ladner said Saturday, "I've looked at my position as a duty and have been commissioner for eight years."

"I wanted more time to devote to my family and coaching duties at Hancock North Central," he explained.

Moran had no comments Saturday for not seeking re-election, but said, "I just didn't want to run again."

Morreale said Saturday he would not seek re-election due to personal reasons.

Morreale said, "I would like to thank everyone for their support and confidence they have given me over the past few years."

Election commission candidates qualifying for the November election are:

—Democratic incumbent J.V. Ladner of Beat One;

—Democratic incumbent Francis (Frank) Lee of Beat Two;

—Republican Jerry Seuzeneau and Democrat Daniel (Dan) Seal, both of Beat Four;

—Democrat Charles F. Gottschalk of Beat Five.

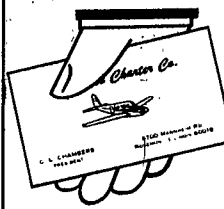

Otis explained, "In the past, election commissioners have been elected countywide, but in 1979 the state legislature voted to have election commissioners only eligible for election in their own beats."

"Election commission winners will need a majority of the votes cast. If they do not get a majority there will be a runoff Nov. 18 to determine a winner," the circuit clerk reported.

Otis said a majority is classified as at least one more vote than half the total votes cast in each race.

All local candidates eligible for the November election were required to submit a petition containing signatures of at least 50 qualified electors from the beat in which the candidate resides.

Elderly citizens can contribute human interest history treasures

By GRADY THIGPEN
Conventional history is mostly a record of dates and events and is, of course, very important, however the most important phase of our history, in my opinion, has been largely neglected - how people lived, what they did, what they thought, how they travelled, what distance meant to them.

We know the history of the discovery of America, the wars our forebears fought in, the dates of the organization of this county and of the individual states.

We know the names of the presidents and many other public officials and their records of accomplishment, but we know little about the common people who made up more than 99 percent of the nation.

We know comparatively little about the everyday life of our ancestors, and of what motivated them.

We know little about how they became educated. Educated they surely were for their time and place if we use the term educated in its real sense.

We know but little of what the old timers did, very little about their social life and how they managed their businesses.

To show what I am talking about, a successful business man who lives in New Orleans came into my place of business and told me that he had bought one of my books in which I told of the first cook stove to be sold in what is now Pearl River County about 1870.

He said to me, "Is that really true, were there no cook stoves prior to that time?" "Why," he continued, "it has never occurred to me that people did not always have cook stoves."

Another man, a young fellow, expressed surprise, if not amazement, at another story I published in which I told of an old man telling me more than 60 years ago of living by the side of the old Gainesville to Columbia Road in what is now Picayune and of ox teams pulling loaded wagons going north along this old road and how he remembered when as many as 20 or more of these wagons would be tied up in the area where Picayune High School now is for as long as 30 days waiting for the water in the Hobolochitto to go down enough so that they could continue on homeward.

Through my close association with my grandfather who was born in 1819 and who died in 1906 I became conscious of the neglect of the human interest history of our country.

As a boy 10 to 16 years-of-age I drove his buggy around over the country side after he became almost blind.

As we would pass an old settled place he would tell of who lived there in the old days, where they came from and where they went to after the Civil War. He would tell interesting incidents and facts.

When I became 72 years of age in 1962 I turned more of the responsibility of my business over to my son and began a long planned and much dreamed about venture to collect the history, folklore and records of folkways in my section of the state.

I started out with the purpose of calling on more than 200 old people the next five years.

I was fortunate in knowing most of the old people of the area from my many years in the business section of Picayune, many years of that in my own business.

I made a list of those over 90 years of age, then a list of those 85 and then of those over 75.

Without exception the old people delighted in cooperating with me. They talked freely and enthusiastically about their recollections of the old days and the old ways.

I got more than 250 most interesting stories, some of them most unusual, some that I thought extraordinary.

I got true stories, I got legends, I got tall tales and I found a number of skeletons which I could not afford to repeat.

Many of the stories were the actual experiences of the narrators, others were tales and experiences that had come down from father to son and still others were pure legend.

I had a first thought I would publish one book but I had so much highly interesting information - much of it pure gold - that I have already published five books.

I now have more than enough exciting old stories and legends to publish more books. There seems to be no end to it as people bring information to me regularly.

Much of it is repetitive and I cannot use it, but all along I run into something that is original and of great interest.

My association with the old people has been the grandest experience of my whole life. Everyone of them, without exception, took much interest in what I was trying to do and helped me in every way they could.

A number of them called me back to give me more information. A few called me back time and again as they recalled more of their experiences and recollections.

E. J. Stockstill, who died at 97 about 1968, gave me a graphic description of life in old Gainesville in 1880 to 1883.

Sam Russ had a keen memory of Pearlinton. He worked at the sawmill there when there were 14 smokestacks at this largest sawmill in the world at that time.

Brimer Johnson who died at 97 a few years ago accurately described in detail logging down the Pascagoula River to Moss Point and how they rafted and floated the logs there many years ago.

Harvey Burks gave me many stories of the old days on Pearl River, most of them highly interesting, some very comical.

Aunt Polly Whitney remembered well when there was a telegraph office in Gainesville and when there was daily passenger boat service up and down the river. She delighted in telling of her romance with her husband.

These are just a few of the enthusiastic old people who were so kind as to work with me.

I recently went over the list of old people who had cooperated with me. I never before realized the high mortality rate of old people.

All those who were 90 and over a short time ago were dead.

Most of those over 90 when I interviewed them just a few short years ago had passed away.

If I, or someone else, had not recorded their recollections they would have been forever lost.

What a great thing it would be if someone in every county in Mississippi would start now and get the information that old people now living can give.

A project like this would be an opportunity for a retired person or anyone, to undertake something of tremendous interest while at the same time rendering a grand service to future generations.

I can think of nothing else that would be so interesting, so useful, so inspiring and so productive of satisfactory accomplishment than a few years spent in a project of this kind.

I assure that the interest never dulls but increases as one becomes involved.

This is a project that cannot wait as these old people will soon all be dead and their recollections forever lost.

Bits-N-Pieces

By Ellis Cuevas

The number of people using the boat launch at the head of Washington Street proves the need for the facility.

We have had several persons mention to us the fact that the people of Waveland should also have a boat launch.

They cannot see any reason for them having to drive to Bay St. Louis or Bayou Cadet to launch boats. The high cost of fuel for autos and also for boats is a very good reason a launch should be made available in Waveland.

We have to commend the Bay St. Louis American Legion, county and city officials who have worked so hard for Bay St. Louis to have a boat launch.

There are very good fishing grounds in Bay St. Louis. The same thing holds true for the fishing reefs in Waveland, as probably just as many fish can be caught if fishermen could have a launch near them.

We hope someone will get something going to try and get a boat launch in Waveland.

We received a clipping from the Memphis Commercial Appeal involving a sports feature about Jack Baum.

Baum, as many of you know, was the manager of Jitney Jungle, Bay St. Louis when it was operated by Joseph Scharff. The feature article mentions the fact that Baum was a two-time All-Memphis guard during high school and the fact that even though he was only 160 pounds, he never missed a game in three seasons.

Baum now resides in Memphis and has been a warehouse supervisor for D. Canale & Co. for the past 13 years.

It is good to hear that Jack is doing fine and is still hard at work at the age of 68.

There always seems to be talk about how far Hancock County is behind everyone in things it does. Well that is not necessarily the case all of the time.

As all of you know, we now have the new voting machines to aide in our elections and cut down the amount of time to tally the votes.

It seems our neighboring county of Pearl River is only in the stage of considering the purchase of the voting machines.

So Hancock County is not always last.

Senator Thad Cochran

SPECIAL REPORT:

Is NATO Obsolete?

The economic and military strength of Europe is linked to the security and economic well-being of the United States. That is one reason why I accepted a recent invitation to participate in a series of meetings with officials in some of those countries.

One of the questions on my mind when I arrived at NATO Headquarters in Brussels several days ago was: "Is the Western alliance out of date?"

When organized in 1949, its purpose was to defend Europe against attack from the Soviet Union. The threat was very real.

Czechoslovakia had fallen under the weight of the Russian army. Most of the resources and military power in Europe were seriously depleted.

Unity and resolve had to be demonstrated in a dramatic and convincing fashion if resistance to Soviet aggression was to be successful.

Throughout the past 31 years, NATO has served its purpose. At least Europe has survived. But, the Soviets have not attacked either.

Now, NATO is strong—organizationally and militarily. Its member nations are increasing their allocation of resources to building and maintaining even stronger defense forces. Military improvements and modernization are underway.

At the same time, one notices the determined commitment in Europe to arms control efforts which they consider an important element in real security for the region.

There is even the urge among some member nations to enter into separate arms limitation agreements with Russia.

Nonetheless, they know true security, real detente and nuclear peace can be achieved only by the "Great Powers," the United States and Russia.

The fact that Afghanistan is under siege serves clear notice of the lack of Soviet commitment to peace. The resulting breakdown in the SALT process concerns Europe very much, but there is no magic answer suggested.

And if that is not enough to worry our friends in NATO, they can look to the Persian Gulf area where American forces are deployed to help ensure the integrity of the shipping lanes through which much of the energy supplies for Western Europe are transported every day.

The United States is spending hundreds of millions of dollars to maintain that force there. NATO is not flexible enough to make a response in that area, or to share the expense, although a cut-off of oil by the Iranian navy, the Soviets, or by a band of terrorists could jeopardize the security of Europe just as surely as an invasion of soldiers from the East.

By treaty definition, the evil that NATO strategy, weapons and planning are designed to deter is a traditional kind of aggression.

No consensus is being reached about sharing with the U.S. the burden of frustrating the indirect destruction of the West by enemy control over much of the world's energy sources.

My conclusion is that a new initiative by our government is in order. At the next meeting of the alliance, the U.S. should begin discussing the need to reexamine the geographic boundaries of NATO concern and action. In this modern and hostile world, war can be waged from afar as well as from next door.

To continue to permit an important allied organization to virtually ignore threats to the security interests of its members that occur away from its borders is to invite the indirect aggression that could undermine the safety of the free world.

After years of very hard work, NATO is capable of meeting the threat that was so real and dangerous to the West in 1949. In 1980, the threat is being enlarged. If obsolescence is to be avoided, the allied response must be enlarged, too.

VA hospitals overemphasize research, neglect patient care

Editor
Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis
Dear Sir:

So Max Cleland comes to town spouting sheep-dig about adding this new building to expand health care services for the New Orleans VA facility. When the Times Picayune carried this item over a year ago, (Remember? Parking lot? Land swap?), it was a research center.

The third largest agency within the federal system can't afford to pay competent medical personnel so they pander to the whims of the researcher. The VA supplies the Veterans' bodies with precious little regard for health care.

Two VA facilities, Fort Lyons, Colo. and Dallas Psychiatric lost accreditation for failure to meet proper standards in patient care, not in building standards. Reacting to an economy order from the oval office, the VA cut nearly 7,000 jobs. Where? From the Department of Medicine and Surgery.

Mr. Cleland pays lip service to Veterans' health care because, like all politicians, he doesn't want Citizen Joe Potatoes on his back. The VA abuses of informed consent are too numerous to describe here. But research, while mandated by 38USC, Sec. 4101, is restrained by Congressional intent thus: "to the extent feasible without interfering with the medical care and treatment of Veterans" implicitly directs the VA to use and cooperate with, "schools of medicine...and other nonprofit agencies." FIRST.

So the Veterans Administration cannot fund a research center until it first puts its administrative house in order and honors its moral and statutory obligations to sympathetic and affirmative response to the health needs of the Nation's Veterans.

The two priests indicted in the Cuban Boat incident claim that they cannot mount an adequate defense for less than $100,000. The Veteran, tho, is different. An attorney, who accepts more than $15 to represent a Veteran in efforts to secure what are his under the law is guilty of a felony. (38USC, Sec 3404).

In case after case, the VA has refused to increase compensation for degenerating service connected disabilities, not because the disability isn't more disabling, but because, "His service connected disability does not prevent him from being substantially gainfully employed."

Does Max Cleland then forfeit his $24,000 per year SC compensation? Or does the VA consider Max Cleland not to be substantially gainfully employed?

Politics retarding development of county, reader feels

Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis
To The Editor:

It is true, the northerners and westerners say, that Mississippi is the most backward state in the union.

This is a very broad, general statement.

In my opinion, it should read: Hancock County is the most backward county in the state of Mississippi.

I have lived here several years and throughout that time I have noticed that politics play a large part in our community.

One of the problems here is that we have too many chiefs and not enough Indians.

The chiefs are looking for "yes" men. Those who live by the principles of doing what is right rather than being caught in the political web are suffering and in turn the community and people suffer along.

The corporations and private businesses which might move to this area are being chased away by the politics of this city.

The neighboring communities are reaping the benefits as our little town goes down the tubes.

Our reputation for political intrigue reaches the potential vacationers, transferees, businesses and corporations before the representatives arrive to survey the potential sites.

The hard workers fighting for the betterment of our community are being forced to resign or are being dismissed from their duties.

Are we to assume that the success of our politics is more important than the welfare of our community and its people?

The web continues to grow as the community and its people continue to suffer.

TERM LIMITATION WILL RESTORE CITIZEN LEGISLATORS

One of the reasons this country has been faced with rising inflation, record interest rates, and energy shortages in recent months is that too many in Congress ignore the protests of taxpayers and continue to create larger and more costly government.

In many cases, the citizen-legislator has been replaced by the career politician who considers Washington, D.C. home and loses touch with the real world outside Washington. Concern for reelection has overshadowed the desire to make the hard decisions needed to solve the nation's problems.

Incumbents have provided themselves with the most sophisticated tools to insure reelection, such as TV studios, free mailing, a large and expensive staff, and sophisticated computers.

In the Congressional elections held since 1962, an average of ninety-four percent of the incumbents who sought reelection were returned to Washington. The average years of service for powerful committee chairmen is more than twenty-one.

That is why many thoughtful people are proposing a Constitutional amendment to limit Congressional terms. The most frequently mentioned idea is three four-year terms for the House of Representatives and two six-year terms for the Senate. One six-year term for President is also being discussed.

Term limitation will help restore citizen-legislators to government. When that occurs, those who pass the laws will be part of their local communities again and be required to live with those laws. A citizen-legislator expects lawmaking to be a temporary occupation, remaining active in or returning soon to a private career.

Momentum is building for such a plan. A Gallup survey indicates sixty-six percent of the American people support limiting Congressional terms.

A responsible, truly representative Congress, composed of citizen-legislators, would be an important step toward bringing inflation under control and a means of encouraging greater personal freedom and individual opportunity.

The Bottom Line

Candid Answers To Your Questions About Advertising and Business Topics.

By S. GALE DENLEY
Associate Professor of Journalism
University of Mississippi

How important is the headline for an ad? Mine seem to be dull, at best. And I don't know what to do. Do You?

Dear DY: Several weeks ago we used the analogy of the most important part of the airplane in discussing a similar problem. You may recall that our pilot said the most important part of a plane is the one not working at the present time.

So, if your headlines are working, their importance would have to be weighed against many other factors.

But, if they aren't working it becomes an entirely different matter. You need not be alarmed. Headlines on ads perform many functions. They can be attention devices, especially where there is little or no art work.

When there is a lot of art, the head leads the reader from the illustrations to the ad copy, or the remainder of the ad.

Either of these functions is quite important, for your ads must get attention, and then transfer this attention to the heart of the sales message.

Ideally, a headline will have some element of news. For example: New Arrivals, Latest Fashions, Improvements, etc.

The ideal head would also promise a benefit appropriate to the product. It could be:

Save, Learn, Improve Yourself, Look Younger, Bigger, etc.

Sometimes it helps to isolate your prospects by addressing them in the headline: Big Men, Women over 40, Ford Owners, Homeowners, etc. These usually get fewer readers, but the ones they do get are more likely to be real prospects.

And, then if you can, and so desire, you may also want to interject curiosity into the headlines.

But, be sure you aren't: 1) silly, 2) trite, or 3) copying someone else.

Even though there are a lot of pitfalls, if you feel you have a good idea try it out—write it down. Ask someone whose judgment you trust to have a look.

You might come up with a jewel as I saw for a watch repair and sales outlet in an Orlando paper last fall: Stop By And See Us, When You Don't Have The Time.

But, you can't wait on this kind of inspiration—write heads that follow the guidelines. And, then should you come up with a real gem, use it.

County Agent's Notes

COUNTY AGENT'S NOTES

STOP WEEDS

Johnsongrass, one of our major weed problems, can still be controlled in many cotton and soybean fields with recirculating sprayers and rope wick applicators.

You'll need to calibrate recirculating sprayers and keep the pressure low to keep the herbicide from splattering. On rope wicks, make sure that the ropes wick the herbicide solution fast enough to stay wet.

The best herbicide concentration for both sprayers appears to be one part of Roundup with two parts of water. For best results, go less than three mph. Make two trips with the rope wick, the second in the opposite direction.

Blazer applied at low rates will kill large sesbania (coffeeweed). Apply before sesbania flowers, using one-half pint of Blazer in 10 gallons of water if applied by air or 20 gallons if applied by ground. Cover the weed completely for good control.

CONTROL PINE BEETLES

Only two insecticides are approved for use against the destructive pine beetles: Lindane and Dursban. Lindane is available as a liquid concentrate that is diluted with water and applied as a 0.5 percent solution. Lindane concentrates are sold in various strengths, so follow mixing directions on the label.

Dursban, also sold as a liquid concentrate, is prepared by mixing 2 two-third fluid ounces of concentrate with water to make one gallon. Dursban is to be applied only by or under the supervision of pest control operators or other trained personnel.

Apply either insecticide by hand or power-operated ground equipment. When protecting uninfested pines, spray only the main trunk up to the upper one-third of the crown needles. Do not spray limbs.

When treating attacked pines, cut, limb and buck infested trees into workable lengths. Spray the entire infested bark surface to the point of runoff to insure good control.

FLOWER GARDENS

Spider mites attack many plants in the flower garden throughout the state. The most common victims are roses, pyracanthas, boxwoods, marigolds, and maples. The spider mite is not really an insect, but belongs to the same family group as spiders and ticks. Eggs are hard to see without magnification. Immature mites are oval and soft-bodied, as are the larger adults. They vary in size and color.

Spider mites such the juices from plants and cause a stripped pattern on the leaves. The leaves later turn yellow and brown and drop off. Spraying plants with water reduces spider mite problems. If you need to control spider mites chemically, use Kelthane, Dimethoate, Malathion, or Diazinon.

FIREWOOD

Don't wait until winter to cut your firewood. You need to cut wood now so it will dry before you burn it. Dry wood ignites easier and releases more heat than green wood. For best results, but wood to desired length and split it before you stack it. Split wood will dry faster than round wood-logs. Keep the stack off the ground so air will circulate around the wood. A cover or roof will protect the wood from rain.

By ELLIS CUEVAS

The Hancock North Central Hawks made it look easy Friday night in defeating the McLain Rams 34-0.

The Hawks dominated the contest from the opening kick-off. McLain tried an onside kick which backfired, giving the ball to the Hawks on the Rams 40 yard line.

Six plays later Bobby Devaughn rambled in on a quarterback keeper for a nine yard score with 9:23 left in the first stanza. Keith Glass booted the ball through the uprights giving the Hawks a 7-0 lead.

As the game ended Hawk Head Coach Irvin Favre had high praises for his squad even though his first stringers only played a little over the first quarter.

Favre said, "We executed well, no mistakes. The Rams did not have the depth we have and we wore them down. We used about 24 players in the game and got to look at some folks on the second and third teams a coach normally does not have an opportunity to see so early in the season."

McLain had a small squad in numbers in comparison to Hancock. Team size for the first teams was about the same but HNC had superior strength in substitutes.

"Bobby Devaughn is a good quarterback, as you know he came up through our entire football program in the county, and we are very proud of him," Favre commented.

Favre continued, "You know this year the team selected two permanent captains for the season. Devaughn and Lloyd Henry were chosen after only the brief preseason practices. This is a first time for a team coached by me at HNC as the team players usually select captains on an each game basis."

During his brief play in the game, Devaughn scored two touchdowns and passed for another.

Henry intercepted a McLain pass and rambled over 60 yards for the Hawks' third score with 2:09 left in the first quarter. The PA by Glass was wide, making the score 20-0 HNC.

The Hawks were leading 14-0 when McLain lost the ball on their first play from scrimmage.

A pass was intercepted by Shannon Lyons setting up the Hawks on the Rams 24 yard line. Five plays later Devaughn scored his second TD on a keeper behind some nice blocking over his right.

Hancock's fourth score was set up early in the second quarter when a McLain punt was blocked and recovered by Glen Meranto on McLain's 18.

Devaughn hit Harry Henry, Lloyd's brother with a TD pass on the next play. Glass' PA was good giving the Hawks a 27-0 lead with 11:18 remaining in the second quarter.

The Hawks final score came in the third stanza when Junior Quarterback Kent Deschamp, who saw more action than Devaughn, tossed out to Charles Davis from 12 yards for a score. Glass booted his fourth extra point giving the Hawks a 34-0 lead.

Defense played an important part in the Hawks scoring. The final TD was set up by a fumble recovery by Andy Rester. Deschamp, on defense made a beautiful play breaking up a Ram pass play before the Hawks final tally.

McLain threatened in the fourth quarter, going to the Hawks 13 before running out on downs.

McLain's offensive team had the ball most of the second half giving the Hawks reserve defensive players a lot of action.

The Hawks racked up over 125 yards total offense to less than 100 yards for the Rams.

Even with the threat of rain, a good crowd was on hand for the Hawk victory. Favre said, "Fan support is something it takes to have a good football program and I was glad to see so many loyal Hawk supporters out tonight."

Favre mentioned to probation imposed on the Hawks because of a baseball incident last season.

The football coach stated, "I feel the probation that is over our heads is unfair to the football and basketball teams. I am making an appeal through the administration and school board. All the football team has to look towards is their regular season games."

Favre added, "I hope they can get it lifted. It should be placed on the baseball team who will not even be effected by it."

The Hawks visit Forrest County next Friday.

HAWK TOUCHDOWN—Bobby Devaughn, No. 14, scores through large hole in left side of McLain line for his second TD Friday. Devaughn scored an earlier touchdown and passed to Harry Henry early in the second quarter for another score. (Staff photo-Ellis Cuevas).

Tomcats claw Bay Tigers in opening home contest

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

An underweight, undermanned and injury-prone Bay Senior High School football team lost 20-0 to a fired-up Stone High School team Friday night at Tiger Stadium in Bay St. Louis.

Heavy rains during the preceding two days offered a spongy playing surface to the teams. A water-soaked sideline greeted spectators packing bleachers on both sides of the local stadium.

The Stone Tomcats dominated the entire first half of the ball game relying on the reverse to baffle Tiger defenders.

The Tigers were plagued with pulled leg muscles with Bay High players limping off the field about every three downs throughout the contest.

The reverse worked for Stone as Tailback Mike Breland rambled across the goal for the first Tomcat touchdown in the middle of the first quarter.

However, Stone's Phill Howard bungled the extra point.

Bay High came back somewhat in the middle of the first quarter when Tiger Wingback Brock Godwin returned a Tomcat kickoff to Stone's 31 yard line.

The Tigers opened the second quarter by pushing to the Tomcat two yard line. On a BHS fourth and goal situation, Tomcat Wingback Tracy Hall snatched the pigskin from Tiger Running Back David Gillum and ran to the Stone 33 yard line.

Stone then began hammering down field alternating end runs and reverses up the middle.

In an unexpected pass play, Hall scored Stone's second six in the end-zone.

Wingback Steve Buckley then made the conversion for the Tomcats, upping the score to 14-0.

Bay High couldn't get the ball across the the 50 yard line when they gained possession in middle of the second quarter.

The Tomcats then gained possession on the 60 and hammered down field for their final score of the evening with 30 seconds left in the first half.

Before the halftime horn blew Bay High couldn't make it past their own 20 yard line.

Halftime festivities featured on-field performances by the bands of both schools.

Bay High came back strong in the second half moving the ball downfield with on the outstanding pass-receiver combinations from Quarterback Steve Seymour to Wingbacks Stephen Hargett and Brock Godwin and Split End Dennis Rhodes.

Early in the third quarter the Tigers streaked to the Tomcat two yard line where Hargett made a spectacular fingertip catch among two Stone defenders.

But the Tomcats stonewalled Bay High at the goal causing four incomplete passes by Seymour by triple teaming receivers.

Bay High had another chance for the TD when Stone fumbled the ball back to the Tigers near the end zone.

But Stone's defense held tight even when Bay High alternated running and passing plays.

When the Tomcats regained the ball the underweight Tiger defense got tough and blocked all of Stone's yardage attempts.

By EDGAR PEREZ

Pass Christian's young and inexperienced Pirates failed in two goalline charges Friday night to lose a 7-0 heart-breaker against Vanceville in Pirate Stadium.

Following a scoreless first quarter, Vanceville mounted a 45-yard drive in ten plays to put tailback Mark Warren in position for a one-yard plunge into the Pirate endzone.

Rex Banks kicked the extra point which sealed the scoring for either team for the rest of the night.

The Pirates came out rejuvenated after the halftime break and pushed the Bulldogs almost to the wall before the drive was broken by an interception.

A second threat by the Pirates in the fourth quarter ended on downs at the Bulldog 10.

"We're going to have a good football team this year," Pirate Coach Robert Lumpkin said Saturday in reviewing the opening performance of his charges.

Lumpkin admitted the squad is "...young and inexperienced, but as we go we will grow."

The Pirates will apparently have to eat a lot of spinach in the next two weeks before they face the biggest test of the season in their next game against the Pascagoula River Conference champion d'Iberville eleven Sept. 10.

"D'Iberville definitely has a good team," Lumpkin conceded in noting the Warriors from Back Bay Biloxi were merciless to Jackson County's East Central aggregation Friday night, 42-0.

The wounded East Central Hornets meet the equally lame Bay High Tigers this week in Jackson County.

"I was generally pleased with our offensive line, they opened some pretty good holes," Lumpkin continued in his fifth-quarter assessment of the Pirates' Friday debut.

The coach cited tight end

Michael Hall and fullback Perry Halton for their offensive efforts.

Defensive standouts were Rusty Blackwell and Randy Haas who both 'did a fine job on the ends,' according to the coach.

Eldridge Dedeaux, at linebacker and 'several of our inside people on defense' were also commended by the coach.

Lumpkin noted the players sustained only bumps and bruises in the hard-fought effort. "There were no serious injuries," he said.

"We will be working on correcting some of our offensive mistakes—we were real inconsistent in that area," the coach explained.

"We blew some assignments in critical spots," he added.

Statistics show Vanceville earned 10 first downs to the Pirates' seven Friday.

The Bulldogs rushed for 102 yards to 90 for the Pass, and gained 29 aerial yards to the Pirates' 21.

Vanceville attempted 10 passes and completed three with no interceptions.

Pass figures in that department are 11-53. Vanceville punted seven times with a 36-yard average and Pass 4 times for a 27-yard average.

Fumble figures reveal a vast improvement in Pirate ball handling over last year's 'butter-fingered bunch.'

Each team fumbled twice Friday night, recovering their own bobbles.

The Bulldogs were called on seven infractions for a total loss of 75 yards.

Pass lost 65 yards on six calls.

Vanceville will be at home Friday against Wilkerson County.

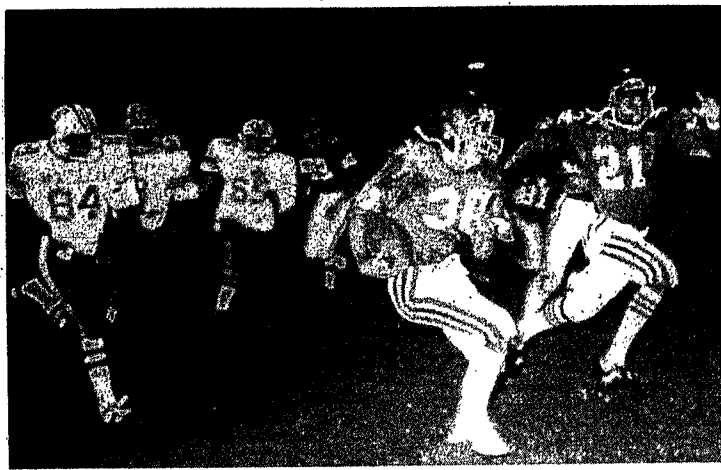

MOMENT OF VICTORY—Senior Tailback Mark Warren, No. 11, crashes through a hole in the Pass Christian defense late Friday night at Pirate Stadium to give his Vanceville Bulldogs the edge in the 7-0 season opener. Bulldog Rex Banks kicked the second period extra point which ended scoring by either team for the evening. Pirate Tightend Rusty Blackwell, No. 24, was a major contributor to a fine effort by the Pass defense Friday. (Staff photo by Edgar Perez)

By the end of the third quarter Bay High's pass combinations to its three key receivers got the Tigers striking distance again. The Tigers continued the passing attack to the three yard line, but the Tomcat defense again broke up the Bay High touchdown attempts.

Bay High's defense held the Tomcats in their own territory. The Tigers then worked their way to the Tomcat 15 yard line where Hargett made another spectacular catch after the pigskin bounced out of defending Wingback Kim Bond's hands.

After several scoring attempts, Bay High's Van Fayard kicked a field goal which was nullified by a Tiger illegal motion penalty.

Fayard's second attempt from a greater distance missed the mark with 2.5 minutes left in the game. The Tomcats gained possession and ran the clock out.

Tiger Head Coach Snuffy Smith said after the game, "We have a young offensive line and last night we had to start with 140-pound Center Randy Bounds."

"I think our offense has the dedication to improve—it's just a matter of time," Smith added.

"We're hurting in any type of trap action on a crossback or countertrap out of the slot back," he stated.

The Bay High coach said his offensive line consists mainly of sophomores. Also, first string 230-pound Center Jeffrey Smith was out Friday night due to injuries.

"The leg cramps we suffered are because we're not working hard enough so we're going to have to work harder in the future," Smith reported.

After 230-pound Tackle Charlie Stewart received a neck injury in the first half we had to look at a new defense," the Tiger coach said.

Smith also cited 'fatigue' as another cause for Stone's high score.

"Defensively we need to improve on our secondary and we need to get in better condition since we're playing men offensively and defensively," Smith explained.

The Tiger Coach said the 20-0 score was no indication of the 'effort put forth' by his team and cited the loss to a 'lack of consistency.'

"There's not doubt we can get the ball in, but consistency is one problem we have," Smith cited.

"In our passing game in the second half we ran out of a shotgun formation to play catch-up ball," the BHS taskmaster stated.

Smith estimated Seymour completed 40 percent of his passes in the second half.

Tomcat Head Coach Jimmy Webb said after the game, "I was pleased with my team in the first half, but not in the second half."

"Bay High did a great job in the second half," Webb stated.

"It looked real good for us in the first half, but the Tiger defense never let us in during the second half," the Tomcat head coach explained.

Next Friday the Tigers will travel to East Central for their second 1980 contest.

ASCS Report

GRAIN LOAN RATES

The price support loan rate for Pearl River and Hancock Counties' 1980 corn crop is 2.25 per bushel, Franklin A. Gennin, county executive director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office of Pearl River and Hancock Counties, reported.

The rate is based on the national average loan rate for corn, which is $2.25 per bushel.

Other loan rates are: Wheat, $3.00 per bushel; oats, $1.16 per bushel; sorghum, $3.02 per hundredweight; barley, $1.83 per bushel, and rye, $1.91 per bushel.

The loan and purchase rate for soybeans rose to $5.02 per bushel, a 10.8-cent increase over last year's rate. The county rate is based on a $5.02-per-bushel national average loan rate and is for soybean containing 12.5 to 13 percent moisture and graded not lower than No. 2 on factors of test weight, splits, and heat damage, and No. 1 on all other factors.

According to Gennin, Pearl River and Hancock County farmers placed over 48,592 bushels of 1979 grain under price support loan.

"Farmers continue to exercise their marketing options by placing grain under loan to boost crop prices," he said.

Commodity loans give producers an opportunity to obtain cash while holding their crop for later sale.

This minimizes to a great extent, market glut, extreme price swings and transportation bottlenecks by spreading commodity markets over the entire year, he said.

Farmers who have questions concerning the 1980 grain loan rates should contact their local ASCS office.

DANISH HAM 'N' COT SALAD

(Makes 6 servings)

Stuffed apricots: Mix together 8 chopped hard-cooked eggs, 1/3 cup mayonnaise, 1/4 cup chopped celery, 1 tablespoon horseradish, 1 tablespoon mustard, 1/2 teaspoon salt and a dash pepper. Mound on apricot halves (drained from 30-ounce can).

Potato salad: Combine 3/4 cup mayonnaise, 1/2 cup chopped onion, 1/2 cup chopped dill pickles, 1 teaspoon salt and 1/8 teaspoon pepper. Add 3/4 cups cooked potato cubes (about 1 1/2 pounds raw); toss gently.

MISSISSIPPI WEEKLY WEATHER REPORT

WEEK ENDING: AUG. 31...WEATHER SUMMARY (National Weather Service): A weak low pressure area formed near the coast on the 28th, and moved slowly north on the 29th and 30th. This brought rainfall to many sections. A few places had just over 2 inches. Winona recorded 2.54 on the 29th. Rain fell 1 or 2 days at most locations, however, a few areas remained dry during the week. Temperatures ranged from 104 at Memphis on the 27th to 60 at Tupelo on the 28th.

CROP SUMMARY: Scattered showers helped crops in the southern half of the state, but overall conditions worsened for the major crops. Pasture conditions also deteriorated over the week. Some soybeans that have been hurt by the hot, dry weather have been cut for hay. Soil moisture was very short in the delta and northeastern counties and short to very short in the remainder of the state. There were 6.1 days suitable for fieldwork during the week compared to 6.3 last week and 4.7 a year ago.

Cotton bolls opened rapidly during the week with 55 percent of the acreage having open bolls, well ahead of the 4 percent for last year and the 22 percent average. The crop was in fair to poor condition. Soybeans were in mostly poor to very poor condition in the delta and northeastern counties and fair to poor in the remainder of the state. About 89 percent of the acreage was podding compared to 81 percent last year and 83 percent average. Fifteen percent of the acreage was turning compared to 11 percent last year. Four percent of the acreage was shedding compared to 1 percent last year and 4 percent for the five-year average.

Rice was in fair to good condition with 94 percent of the acreage headed compared to 94 percent last year and 86 percent average. About 45 percent of the acreage was mature compared to 24 percent last year. Harvest was 9 percent completed compared to 4 percent last year.

Corn was in poor to fair condition with 84 percent of the crop mature compared to 60 percent last year. Harvest of corn for grain was 19 percent completed compared to 11 percent for both last year and the average. Corn to be cut for silage was 90 percent harvested compared to 80 percent last year.

Sorghum was 49 percent ripe compared to 42 percent last year. Thirteen percent of the acreage was harvested compared to 11 percent last year and 18 percent average. Sorghum for silage was 58 percent harvested compared to 60 percent a year ago.

Peanuts were 12 percent harvested compared to 14 percent last year and 25 percent average.

Hay was 80 percent harvested compared to 78 percent last year and 74 percent average.

Pastures were in poor to fair condition.

Pecans were in poor to fair condition.

Sweetpotatoes were 11 percent harvested compared to 15 percent last year and 26 percent average.

COUNTIES
QUITMAN CO. "An immediate rain 3" or more would keep bean crop from deteriorating further below estimated 10 bushels per acre."

TATE CO. "Hot, dry weather is causing problems in soybean field - not podding."

LEE CO. "Dry conditions are cutting yields of all crops very much."

YAZOO CO. "Crop prospects dwindling every day without rain. Many small, immature bolls in cotton. Some soybeans dying because of drought conditions, pods unable to fill."

WEBSTER CO. "Two months without rain along with the excessive heat is cutting our yield prospects daily. Some farmers are cutting their beans for hay."

KEMPER CO. "Very - Very - Dry - Most corn lost; hay crop very short; soybeans look bad. Doesn't look like a good year for farmers even if we get rain now."

NOXUBEE CO. "It's so dry, some farmers are considering cutting soybeans for hay."

WARREN CO. "Dry weather has many farmers worried. We need a good, general rain."

SIMPSON CO. "Still spraying for armyworms. Some podworm damage in soybeans. Still need rain. Ryegrass planting will be delayed unless moisture comes soon."

WEEKLY BROTHERS, WEEK ENDING: AUG. 30

BROILER-TYPE
Hatcheries in the State set 6,140,000 eggs for broiler chicks during the week ending August 30, 1980, 2 percent below the previous week and 2 percent below the corresponding week a year ago.

There were 4,987,000 broiler chicks placed on Mississippi farms during the week ending August 30, 1980, 4 percent above the previous week but 7 percent below the corresponding week a year ago.

EGG-TYPE
Hatcheries in the State set 369,000 eggs for egg-type chicks during the week ending August 30, 1980, 4 percent above the previous week and 18 percent above the 314,000 set during the comparable week a year ago. Hatch of egg-type chicks was 268,000, 6 percent above the previous week and 47 percent above the 182,000 hatched during the comparable week a year ago. In the five states that accounted for about 26 percent of the hatch of all egg-type chicks in the U.S. in 1979, settings during the week ending August 30, 1980, were down 3 percent but hatchings were up 12 percent from a year ago.

The September 15, 1980 Index of Prices Received by Mississippi farmers for all commodities was up 5 points to 274 percent of its January-December 1967 average according to the Mississippi Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

contributed to an increase of 2 points (1 percent) in the All Crops Index to 292 percent of its January-December 1967 average.

Increase in cattle and hog prices led to a 7 point (3 percent) increase in the Livestock and Livestock Products Index to 252 percent of its January-December 1967 average.

The August ratio of prices received by Mississippi farmers to U.S. prices paid was 96 percent of its January-December 1967 average. The Index of Prices Paid by Farmers for Commodities and Services, Interest, Taxes and Farm Wage Rates for August 15 was 204, an increase of 4 points from mid-July.

Of the total stocks on August 1, 1980, about 3 percent are on farms and the remainder are in mills, warehouses, ports, and in transit.

Long grain stocks amounted to 10.5 million hundredweight (477 thousand metric tons), 52 percent of the total; medium grain totaled 6.78 million hundredweight (308 thousand metric tons), 34 percent of the total; and short grain stocks were 2.80 million hundredweight (127 thousand metric tons) or 14 percent of the total.

'He died as he lived'

Brother Bonnie passes quietly in sleep

BROTHER BONAVENTURE CHENEVERT, S.V.D.

Brother Bonaventure Chenevert, S.V.D. died in his sleep Sunday, Aug. 31, 1980 at Divine Word Seminary in Bay St. Louis.

He was a member of the Society of the Divine Word. The Mass of Resurrection was celebrated and burial followed at the seminary Wednesday, September 3.

Born Joseph Quintin Chenevert on October 28, 1920 in Hamburg, La., he was the oldest son of Howard and Ethel Chenevert.

At the age of 19 in 1939 he went to Bay St. Louis with the intention of becoming a religious Brother.

A year later he entered the Novitiate on November 1, 1942.

He pronounced his first vows in the Society of the Divine Word on November 1, 1942.

Final vows came on November 1, 1948.

Coming from a farm background, Bro. Bonnie's first assignment was on the seminary farm. Shortly afterward, his interest turned to tailoring and he soon mastered the trade, and for many years he was the seminary's tailor.

In 1969, Bro. Bonnie was elected as a member of an administrative council for the Divine Word Missionaries and remained a member till his death.

He left the tailoring shop in 1971 and accepted the responsibility of treasurer for the seminary. While carrying on his other duties, Bro. Bonnie was the sacristan of the seminary for more than fifteen years.

In a very quiet manner, Bro. Bonnie served others well during his years in vows. His service has been an example of kindness and cheerfulness - a living proof of his faith. Visitors to the seminary often remarked that Bro. Bonnie was a very cordial and friendly person. His tasks were done in a quiet unassuming way.

Dying quietly in his sleep, it was said, he died as he had lived.

mitment to Jesus Christ which would make them more effective instruments in spreading the Good News.

Father Austin Walsh, S.T., will be the teacher and facilitator for these classes.

Prayer Meeting: There are Prayer Meetings every Monday at 10 a.m. at the Infant of Prague Complex in White Cypress on every Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Annunciation Parish Center in Kiln.

PULPIT POINTS

THE CAUSE OF CHRIST is where the action is!

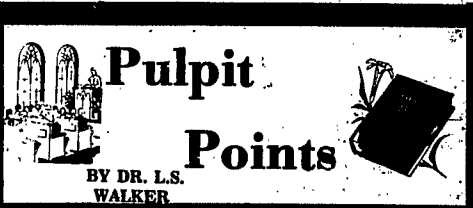

"Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men," were the words spoken by Jesus to His first disciples. There has never been a more challenging call sounded forth to men in all history.

"Son, go work today in my vineyard," is the teaching of our Lord as found in Matthew 21:28.

"Go... make disciples... baptizing them... teaching them (Matt. 28:19-20)." and ye shall be witnesses unto me... unto the uttermost part of the earth (Acts 1:8). Thus we have the most important call, demanding the most urgent action ever known to man. Little wonder the boy Jesus said, "Don't you know that I must be about my Father's business."

There are a host of churchgoers today who are favorable to lots of things constructive as long as some one else does the work. They had rather not get involved.

Jesus once propounded the

Pulpit Points

BY DR. L.S. WALKER

question: "Why call ye me Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?"

Dr. Vance Havner calls them Balcony Christians. This day of television and grandstands, he says, has bred a generation of spectators. At the movies, in the stadium, in the living room, they sit and stare. It gets over into the church. We pay church staffs, he continues, to do 'church work' and we sit in the church on Sunday morning watching them do it. Like the listeners of Ezekiel's day we come to God's house and sit and hear the preacher's words, but we will not do them.

The Bible says, "Be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves."

"For if any man be a hearer of the word, and not a doer, he is like a man beholding his natural face in a glass:

"For he beholdeth himself, and goeth his way, and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was," - James 1:22-24.

There are too many balcony Christians of the onlooker, spectator, non-participating variety. Like the inhabitants of Meroz we come not to the help of the Lord against the mighty. There are too many in the grandstands and too few on the field. We watch a performance instead of sharing an experience. When a Gospel invitation is given at the close of a sermon, most people look around to see who does what without dreaming that they should do something themselves.

This is no time for sideline saints. Actually, however, nobody is in the balcony. Really, there is no neutralism in the conflict between good and evil. We are all in it, and we are for or against. It is very fashionable to be "neither, nor" these days; but with God it is "either, or." We are lost or we are saved. We have been "born again" into God's family, or we have not. We are headed for heaven or hell. "He that believeth on him is not condemned: but he that believeth not is condemned already." Again the Saviour said: "He that is not with me is against me: and he that gathereth not with me scattereth abroad." That does away with what we call "inactive church membership."

If we are not gathering with Christ we are scattering from Christ, but either is active.

The "uncommitted Christian" is actually committed after all. If he come not "to help the Lord against the mighty," he is a traitor in collaboration with the enemy.

"The friend of the world is the enemy of God," - James 4:4. The man who thinks he is only a spectator in the balcony is deceiving himself. By failing to take an active part on the Lord's side he aids and abets the cause of evil. More harm is done by these would-be-neutralists that by the bitterest foes of truth. They are like luke-warm Loadicians and our Lord would have us be cold or hot.

There is no place in God's program for "balcony" Christians. Where do YOU stand? Spectator? or participant?

If its action you want, the most urgent, far reaching and rewarding is in the Lord's cause.

You'll do better at A&P... everyday!

Everyone's favorite--The Robin

FEATHERED FRIENDS

The Robin belongs to the same family (Turdidae) as the Bluebird. These family members are some of the best songsters in the world, of which the Robin is one of the most talented.

Like most songbirds, they begin singing very early in the morning, become silent as the day gets hotter, and as the evening cools off they become vocal again.

Without a doubt, the Robin is the best known and most loved bird in North America. To many people the Robin is the true bird of spring. Each year a few Robins may stay as far north as southern Canada.

Migratory birds will spend the winters as close to their nesting grounds as the food supply will allow. And, with more and more people feeding the birds through the winter and providing shelters, more birds will be braving the cold northern winters.

The vast majority of Robins will winter in the south and in early spring hordes fly northward. After a series of daytime flights, the red-breasted males arrive and begin singing challenges to any other males that may dare trespass on their territory.

The females, slightly duller and with grayish heads will arrive a week or so later.

Following their arrival, the days are full of activity. Passing flocks, straggling through to still more northern localities, do not stop to challenge the established Robins.

There is almost constant fighting between local home-hunting males. During all of this the females perch close by unconcerned.

By late April, nests can be found in every yard. Usually they are on the lower limbs of trees, but nesting sites may include window ledges, beams, bridge support beams, vine-covered arbors and even stumps.

The females usually select the site for the nest and does most of the building. Wherever the nest is placed you can be certain the inside nest bowl will be lined with mud.

The eggs are blue-green in color and are deposited in the nest one a day until there are 4, occasionally 5. After the last egg is laid the female begins incubation.

After two weeks the naked, skinny baby Robins hatch out. Earthworms form a large part of the diet of baby Robins, especially so after rains when the ground is wet and the worms are forced near the surface. Watching the adults hunt worms is very interesting.

The bird runs along the lawn for a few feet, then pause and cocks his head. The bird is not "listening" as previously thought, but is tilting his head only to get a better sight angle of the ground.

After 10 to 12 days the young feather out and they have big speckles on their breasts. These speckles reveal their relationship to the other members of the thrush family.

The fledglings' first flight is usually a short one - only a few feet. The young face a critical time when they leave the nest. They must face several enemies before they can fly well enough to escape cats, dogs and snakes. When the young first leave the nest the male takes complete charge, teaching them the ways of the wild, how to find food and how to be ever on guard against enemies. During all of this the female is busy preparing for a second brood.

Later on in the season after the last brood is raised and on the wing, the female and these young ones will join the male and the older ones. In the fall the family units travel from one berry tree to another. Their travel has a care-free atmosphere as they drift toward the deep south states.

Robins have a varied diet; including fruit, earthworms, grubs and many different insects. Fruits and berries are probably the most important part of the diet and these include: holly, dogwood, cherry, mulberry, sumac, chinaberry, blackberry, mistletoe, black gum, persimmon and hackberry.
